

Ladies' Literary Club.

A programme of special interest was presented at the meeting of the Ladies' Literary club last Friday. The topics handled were all in regard to the subject of education, and a carefully prepared paper presenting both sides of the elective system of studies was given by Mrs. C. E. Allen. In support of the elective system, Mrs. Allen said that the age demanded special preparation. This is an age of specialization, and the man who does not prepare carefully on one point will not succeed. The twentieth century is to be the century of individuality, and the man as an individual must develop one talent thoroughly.

For the opposite side the speaker held that the best test of an education is its effect on character, and hence the real education is the all-round education. We grow by doing the hard as well as the easy things, and the child or the adult who can choose his studies in danger of choosing only those which he likes to do. No man should be called educated whose studies have been too closely specialized, as a certain amount of general knowledge should precede all specialization.

A paper on study of the classics was sent by Judge Goodwin and read by Mrs. C. W. Watson. The paper dealt rather generally with the matter of an all-round education, but failed to give any theory on the value of the classics in a modern education. The judge said:

"Every day I would have lectures on the love of knowledge, on the comfort and delight that comes with the acquirement of an education; how with his books and his memory a man can be alone without being lonely; how in the silence of the night he can surround himself with friends—friends of all the ages; how he can make the stars bend down and tell to him their secrets, and report to him their goings and their comings; how the sun and the moon are constrained to reveal when their faces are to be veiled in an eclipse; how to compel the deep sea to report when his tides are to ebb and flow; out of the viewless air to catch the breath of the hurricane and to learn, while yet it is far away, what path it will follow; how to analyze the soils and the rocks and learn to reduce the language of the alphabet which nature has left scattered throughout her domain, and which to inspired eyes supplies the key that will unlock the doors to nature's treasure chambers. I would have pictured the advantages of knowing the histories of the nations, that a clearer idea of the glories of our own nation may be realized. I would have the lives of the world's great dead studied to bring to the student the comfort of the company of these immortals, when the present world grows cold and trusted friends betray them."

At the close of the literary programme Mrs. Dart made a strong plea for the club's support, in a financial way, for the free kindergarten which is now open in the old Thirteenth ward school house. She told of the numbers of little ones from the worst part of town who are being cared for and kept from the streets by this organization, and asked for an appropriation of $50 from the club treasury for its support. The money was voted unanimously. Mrs. Dart reported handsome donations from the Reviewers, Walker's store, Mrs. D. C. McLaughlin and others.

Reviewers' Club.

Monday's meeting of the Reviewers' club was held at the home of Mrs. David Evans. The first topic of the afternoon was presented by Mrs. Evans and was a finely prepared paper on the subject of "Long Distance Power Transmission." The marvels of electricity, as shown in the invention of the age, were all dwelt on, and the club was given an insight into the possibilities of the next few years in this wonder-working science.

Mrs. Coray read a paper on "Kindergarten Children," and the club elected as delegate to the meeting of the Utah Federation Mrs. Ellen Elliot. It was decided to hold some kind of an entertainment in the near future to raise funds for the maintenance of the free kindergarten. The club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Nelden.

Daughters of American Revolution.

The October meeting of the D. A. R. was a most delightful one. It was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George A. Lowe, and a fine programme was presented. Mrs. M. A. Brecken was the chairman of the day, and her mother, Mrs. S. M. Day, gave a most interesting sketch of the lives of her ancestors in the early days of Kentucky. Mrs. John T. Hurst of Ogden, who was a guest of the society, read two very clever short stories of negro life in Kentucky, and Miss Williamson furnished several piano selections. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Esther Jones, and Mrs. Lily Kenyon will be the chairman.

Woman's Club.

The first meeting for the year of the Woman's club was held Tuesday afternoon in the city and county building. The new president, Mrs. A. B. Gatrell, made a short opening talk, and a fine review of the Los Angeles biennial was given by the club's delegate, Miss Buckner.

The club will begin the study of French history, and the opening paper, dealing with the history of Gaul from B. C. to 752, will be given by Mrs. Gatrell.

Council of Jewish Women.

The Council of Jewish Women held the first meeting for the opening club year on Wednesday afternoon at the B. E. lodge rooms. The business incident to the opening of the year was transacted, and the plans for work were more fully discussed. A special meeting will be held Tuesday at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Henry Evans, 34 Seventy and East. As business of importance is to be transacted, a full attendance is desired.

Provo Clubs.

Sorosis met Oct. 8 at the home of Mrs. Evans, with the president, Mrs. Warner, in the chair. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted. The first paper of the afternoon was "Joan of Arc," given in a very able manner by Miss Hoagland, followed by a review of Schiller's "Maid of Orleans" by Mrs. Houtz. After recess refreshments were served to with quotations from ten members.

Mrs. Irvine gave a paper on "France Under Louis XI." Club adjourned for one week, to again meet with Mrs. Evans.

Three o'clock Friday afternoon found the Nineteenth Century club in session at Mrs. Sutton's, enjoying the following programme:

"Struggle for Existence," Mrs. Havercamp; "Brutus," Mrs. Beesley; "Horatius," Mrs. Barnes; "Carolanus," Mrs. J. J. Nunn; "Cincinnatus," Mrs. Schwab; "Plebeians and Patricians," Mrs. Maunick; "Roman Conquest of Italy," Mrs. De Moley.

Needlework Guild.

The presidents and directors of the Needlework Guild are again reminded that it has been decided to continue the work this year. They are urged to send notices to all former members that donations should be sent by the end of this week. Many newcomers can also be interested in the work. If any one is overlooked in the notices, or is doubtful about the place to send contributions, they are requested to send them to Mrs. Nelden, 1172 East First South street. The contribution of two new articles for man, woman, child (underwear preferred) or house, or any donation in money once a year is all that is required for membership.

Club Notes.

The current events and current literature section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the club house. Mrs. J. F. Grant will give a paper on Cecil Rhodes, and Mrs. Parnalee will review "The Mississippi Bubble."

The railroads have granted the members of the Utah Federation of Women's clubs a rate of one fare to Ogden and return at the October meeting, if thirty or more will go from Salt Lake. Those who intend going are requested to give their names to Mrs. Rickford as early as possible.

The music section of the Ladies' Literary club will have an at home to their husbands and escorts at the home of Mrs. Nelden tomorrow evening. A programme of special interest will be presented.

The Orphans' Home & Day Nursery association will hold its annual reception tomorrow afternoon at the home from 3 till 5 o'clock. All friends of the association and all who are interested in the work are invited to be present.

The Parliamentary club will meet at the club house tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. As this is the first meeting of the year, a full attendance is desired.

The Architectural Sketch Club of Utah will hold their monthly meeting on Monday at 8 p. m. at room 27 Dooly block.

The Woman's Republican club will have a card party at Mrs. Ezra Thompson's, 576 Brigham street, Wednesday, Oct. 15.

The Cleofan will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Julia Taylor. Mrs. John McVicker will give a paper on "The Opium Question and Irish National Movement."
